

Airline Transport Is Found Wrecked; Eight Persons Aboard Dead

Since Last Friday Airliner Found in Snow Covered Pass—Wreck So Swift and Sudden Victims Never Knew What Happened.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)—The wreckage of a giant United Airlines transport last Friday was so swift and sudden, line officials said today, that the eight persons who died never knew what happened.

The plane fell vertically, like a great ball of steel, and struck the ground with such force that the engine was imbedded in the ground up to the cabin.

All the bodies were pushed forward, said Leon Cuddeback, assistant to Chief Pilot H. T. Lewis of United Air Lines. "The ship did not move after it struck the ground. There was no evidence of fire. Death must have been instantaneous to all."

The dead: Miss Mary Carter, stewardess, formerly of Omaha and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Lloyd Anderson, Cheyenne, pilot.

Eric G. Danielson, Cheyenne, co-pilot.

J. J. Sterlin, mayor of Denton, Texas.

Marcellus Zinnmaster, Des Moines, Iowa.

Eval W. Berglund, Boone, Iowa.

Bert McLaughlin, Perry, Iowa.

E. L. Walker, Rock Springs, Wyo.

Missing since last Friday, shortly after it had taken off, here for Cheyenne with five passengers and a crew of three, the transport was found wrecked in a snow covered pass 20 miles east of here. The wreckage was sighted at dusk yesterday by a searching plane.

A rescue party of company officials which reached the scene through deep snow two hours later found the mangled bodies of the two pilots and the five passengers thrust into the forward end of the plane and imbedded by wreckage.

Only the body of the stewardess, Miss Carter, was intact. It lay on top of those of the others. Identification was possible only by jewelry and clothing.

Except for the wings, which were mangled, virtually every part of the craft was smashed. The tail hung drunkenly like a boy's broken kite.

Several hours were required to extricate the bodies from the wreckage. They were carried two miles to the Lincoln Highway, where ambulances brought them to this city. The cause of the crash had to be dug from the ground before baggage and express could be removed from the forward compartment.

Judge John C. Green, coroner of Summit county, a member of the rescue party, said it was apparent that all the passengers and crew had died instantly. He said none of them seemed to have moved after the plane struck.

The plane was sighted by Pilot Don Broughton and Creighton H. Geer, who were about to return to the airport here for more fuel. Broughton signaled the find to other pilots, and returned to the air field to lead a party of company officials to the spot.

Maneuvers of the searching planes had been noted by a party of skiers nearby, who located the wrecked ship and advised the air line officials to its exact whereabouts.

The giant low-wing twin-motor liner, one of the latest developments in aircraft, went to its end within a mile of the always beacon that shows the way through Parley's Canyon, main air and land artery from Salt Lake valley to the east. But the beacon was obscured by a heavy snowstorm which swept the Wasatch Mountains shortly before its approach, and by heavy clouds that trailed for a mile below.

It had cleared the summit of the pass, and wrecked itself about three-quarters of a mile below on the eastward slope.

U. S. Attorney Denied Pass to Canada Soil

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Denied admittance to Canada, where he was to act as consultant in the trial of A. E. Smith, secretary of the Canadian Defense League, charged with sedition, Leo J. Gallagher, of Los Angeles, attorney for the American Labor Defense League, today forwarded a protest to immigration authorities at Ottawa.

Gallagher, who was an observer at the famous Reichstag fire trial in Berlin and an attorney for Tom Mooney last year in California, was turned back yesterday on grounds that immigration laws prohibited an American from working in Canada.

He said today he had offered to work without compensation at the trial which opens in Toronto today but was told that would make no difference.

Almost Quarter Of The Country Buried Under Blanket Of Snow

Blizzard Swirls Over United States From Indiana East To the Atlantic Coast—Six Deaths are Attributed to Storm—Weather Bureau Officials Say Snowfall Will End Tonight.

(By The Associated Press)

A blizzard swirling over the United States from Indiana east to the Atlantic coast today buried almost a quarter of the country under a blanket of snow.

Following yesterday's tornadoes, which took a toll of sixteen lives in the deep south, the snowstorm raged, causing new fatalities.

Six deaths were attributed to the blizzard, which has added an average of five inches to the old snow in the northeast section, and bids fair to add two inches more before it abates tonight.

In Portland, Me., the mounting snow blanket reached a depth of two and a half feet. In the Ohio Valley and Virginia it averaged an eight-inch depth.

Fatalities from the storm included a woman found dead from exposure in Chicago, and an engineer who died in a train wrecked by a snowbank near Mapleton, Me.

The storm, which had its origin in Northern Texas, moved eastward, leaving the area west of the Mississippi almost snow-free today.

A high pressure area, with attending clear skies, was succeeding the storm today. Weather bureau officials said the snowfall will end tonight, but not until it had almost equaled the 3.2 inches depth of the preceding snow.

A two-day search for a missing air liner ended last night when its five passengers and crew of three were found dead near a snowbound canyon not far from Salt Lake City. The giant craft smashed to earth in a blinding blizzard Friday.

Swirling snow enveloped a large part of the nation, from New England westward to Nebraska and southward to Washington and beyond. This storm caused six deaths, including a woman found dead from exposure in Chicago and an engineer who died in a train wrecked by a snowbank near Mapleton, Me.

Large eastern cities like New York sought frantically to clear away the snow and prevent a tieup like that of last week, which paralyzed traffic. Despite their efforts, many trains were running late and road transportation was impeded. Airplanes over a wide area were held to the ground.

Another snowstorm in progress in city, snow plows are busy.

About 4 inches of snow had fallen in city since Sunday with storm still in progress at noon—Snow accompanied by wind—Snow plows busy on city streets.

Another snow storm broke over Kingston on Sunday and snow continued falling throughout the night and this morning. At noon today the storm was still in progress and about 4 inches of snow had fallen. Superintendent James Norton of the board of public works said he ordered out two snow plows at 3 o'clock this morning, and they worked throughout the day clearing the city streets.

The snow today was accompanied by a wind which drifted the snow in places, and made walking very disagreeable as the snow would be whirled into the faces of the pedestrians.

The city streets were just about cleared from the storm of early last week when the present storm set in. The street department had 30 men and several trucks and plows at work on the snow.

The continued auto traffic on Broadway is keeping the snow packed down, and last week where there were a number of slippery places in the streets the city sanded the danger points. The present storm has covered over the sand that was used.

No Drill at Armory On Account of Snow

There will be no drill for Battery A, 156th Field Artillery, tonight, on account of the snow and poor traveling conditions. Lieutenant James P. Byrne announced this afternoon. The next drill will be at the new armory on Monday night, March 5.

The other four are those of the Moidenke brothers, Smith and Schooley. The others will be held here until relatives arrive.

It was learned this morning that Barry T. Sullivan, Washington, D. C., sophomore, a newspaper carrier, smelled the odor of coal gas when he delivered his Sunday morning papers at the house early Sunday morning. He had smelled it there before, he said, although the odor yesterday was slightly stronger than on previous occasions.

The fraternity house will be vacated for the remainder of the year. The seven students who escaped death by their absence from Hanover over the week-end decided to seek living quarters elsewhere for the remainder of the college year.

5 Bodies Sent Home

Five of the pine bodies of the students will be sent to their homes today. The body of William S. Fullerton, son of Mrs. Hugh M. Fullerton, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, will be accompanied west by his younger

Two Home Loans Are South's Death Roll Granted In Ulster County 14 Pending

How The Home Owners' Local Corporation Operates Explained by James H. Betts, District Manager—Many Do Not Understand Steps Taken in Granting Loans to Distressed Property Owners.

The first two loans in Ulster county have been approved and granted by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, and 14 more applications will be granted and loans made as soon as the necessary title searching is completed. These facts were made public today by James H. Betts of this city, who is district manager of the eastern district of New York state, which includes Ulster county. Mr. Betts said that there was considerable misunderstanding on the part of many as to just what steps it was necessary to take in order to have a loan granted.

The first step that must be taken by a person who is threatened with the foreclosure of the mortgage on his property is to make an application for a loan, which can be done through the local office maintained in the county treasurer's office in the court house where Morton Finch holds office hours on Wednesday afternoon and Saturday morning.

When the application is filed a preliminary appraisal of the property is made by Mr. Finch. Then it is necessary to secure the written consent of the holder of the mortgage to exchange the mortgage for the 4 percent bonds of the corporation.

Unless the mortgage holder agrees to these bonds in lieu of his mortgage there is nothing further that the Home Owners' Loan Corporation can do.

Mr. Betts said that it is urged that the mortgage holder cooperate with the corporation in order to save the homes of distressed home owners.

The bonds, he said, are selling at approximately 96 with a par value of 100. The interest on the bonds at the present time is guaranteed by the government and a bill has been introduced in congress providing for the guaranteeing of the principal of the bonds also, and it is believed that the bill will pass at the present session of congress.

If the present mortgage holder does not desire to retain the bonds there is a ready market for the bonds which can be disposed of through a broker.

Mr. Betts said that the reason why no cash loans are being authorized is because of the fact that only 10 percent of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation assets are in cash, and this cash was being conserved to pay tax items, which, under the law, must be paid in cash.

The main purpose of the corporation, said Mr. Betts, is to take up mortgages by exchanging the bonds for the amount of the mortgage, and unless a home owner is actually in financial distress or in danger of losing his home can the mortgage be transferred to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

At the present time there are 315 applications for loans in Ulster county of which number preliminary appraisals have been made on 164 applications, but of these 315 applications, the consents of the holders of the mortgages to accept the corporation bonds in exchange for the mortgages have only been obtained in 53 cases. Unless the holders of the mortgages in the other applications agree to accept the bonds nothing can be done by the Loan Corporation.

Mr. Betts said that it should also be understood that only properties in which the applicant actually resides or maintains his legal residence is eligible for a loan, and loans can only be granted on property with an appraised valuation of $20,000 or less.

STATE PUBLICITY BUREAU TO BE DISCUSSED TUESDAY

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Creation of a New York State Publicity Bureau will be discussed by representatives of hotels, transportation companies, chambers of commerce, manufacturers, merchants and farmers at a meeting in Albany tomorrow afternoon.

It is proposed to operate the bureau on state funds to advertise and promote the recreational, industrial and agricultural resources of New York. The meeting was called after Governor Lehman last week stressed the need for state aid in publicity to advertise the attractions which would appeal to tourists and vacationists from other states and countries. Several states already have bureaus similar to the one proposed.

He was active in local fraternal circles and was a member of the Central Hook and Ladder Company and also of the Masonic Club and the United Commercial Travelers. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Stella, and two sons, Orlando and Gerald.

The body was taken to his late home, 419 Dahill Road in Brooklyn, where funeral services will be held Tuesday with interment in the Evergreen cemetery.

Roosevelt Suggests Authority To Control Wires, Cables, Radio

New Group Would Have Vested Power Over All Messages and Would Combine Current Responsibilities of Interstate Commerce and Federal Radio Commissions—Divides Utilities, for Clarity, Into Three Fields, Naming Others as Transportation and Power.

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a special message to congress today, recommended creation of a federal communications commission to take authority over wires, cables and radio.

The senate and house interstate commerce committees have been studying this problem for several weeks and early action is expected by leaders.

The message of the president follows:

"To the congress: I have long felt that for the sake of clarity and effectiveness the relationship of the federal government to certain services known as utilities should be divided into three fields—transportation, power and communication.

"The problems of transportation are vested in the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the problems of power, its development, transmission and distribution, in the Federal Power Commission.

"In the field of communication, however, there is today no single government agency charged with broad authority.

"The Congress has vested certain authority over certain parts of communication in the Interstate Commerce Commission and there is, in addition, the agency known as the Federal Radio Commission.

"I recommend that the Congress create a new agency to be known as the Federal Communications Commission, such agency to be vested with the authority now lying in the Federal Radio Commission and with such authority over communications as now lies with the Interstate Commerce Commission—the services affected to be all of those which rely on wires, cables or radio as a medium of transmission.

"It is my thought that a new commission such as I suggest might well be organized this year by transferring the control of communications of the radio commission and the interstate commerce commission.

"The new body should, in addition, be given full power to investigate and study the business of existing companies and make recommendations to the Congress for additional legislation at the next session."

Two Negroes Arrested.

Jack Vanoy, negro of 253 East Strand, and Lawrence Bennett, negro of 59 Chambers street, were arrested on charges of selling liquor without having a license to do so from the state control board. The arrests were made by the police on information furnished by a man named Jones, who alleged that he purchased a pint of what is alleged to be applejack in both places.

Attorney Chris J. Flanagan appeared for Vanoy and Bennett today in police court and entered pleas of not guilty in both cases and the hearings were set down for March 7 in police court.

Whisper Is Held.

Newton Whispell, 27, of 455 Washington avenue, who was arrested several days ago on a charge of carrying a revolver without having a written license, this morning waived examination and was held to await the action of the next grand jury. Whispell was arrested at the Dugan residence at 43 Newkirk avenue. At the time he was arrested it was found that he had been injured about the head and the police took him to the Kingston Hospital where he remained for several days for treatment.

545 Fishermen Adrift On Caspian Ice Floe

Also 330 Horses are Drifting Helplessly on Separate Floe—Airplane From Moscow Speeds to Assist Castaways.

Moscow, Feb. 26 (AP)—Packing death from drowning or exposure, 545 fishermen and 330 horses were drifting helplessly on two separate ice floes in the Caspian Sea today while an airplane from Moscow sped to their assistance.

A sudden rise in temperature yesterday caused the ice to break up, catching 400 men and 190 horses in the vicinity of Dolgiy Island and 145 men and 140 horses near Kolali Island on ice packs which rapidly were swept out to the open sea.

Their plight was described as extremely perilous, because of a lack of food supplies and the fact that the ice upon which they were marooned was soft.

An airplane which left Moscow with food and medicines yesterday was due today in Astrakhan, a city at the mouth of the Volga river on the Caspian Sea. From that point it was planned to conduct rescue operations.

Meanwhile, a government rescue commission was continuing efforts to find a way of saving 161 persons, including two little children and a number of women—who took refuge on a Bering Straits ice floe.

Charged With Biting Officer Kinch in Arm At Broadway Theatre

Casper Debroskie, 18, Arrested at Broadway Theatre Sunday Night—Officer Kinch had Arm Bitten by Dr. Krom—Youth Pleaded Not Guilty—Other Cases in Police Court.

Casper Debroskie, 18, of 63 Emerick street, was arrested Sunday evening on two charges, one of public intoxication and the other for disorderly conduct. At the time the youth was arrested it is claimed that he sunk his teeth deep into the arm of Officer Howard Kinch, and the officer had the arm treated at the Kingston Hospital by Dr. John Krom.

According to the police account of the affair Debroskie and several other youths were alleged to have been creating a disturbance at the Broadway Theatre and Officer Schoonmaker was called to assist in ejecting the youths from the theatre. Officer Kinch, who was attending the theatre, it being his day off, was in plain clothes and hearing the disturbance went to the assistance of his fellow officer, and it is alleged that it was then that Debroskie bit the officer in the arm.

This morning in police court Debroskie pleaded not guilty to both charges and asked for an adjournment which was granted and the cases set down for a hearing Thursday morning in court. Bail of $50 was continued until that time.

Bert Wilde Bought Olivet Building on Broadway; Moves in.

Bert Wilde, dealer in tires, who for the past several years has been located at 584 Broadway, has purchased the three story Olivet Building at Broadway and O'Neil street, and today was removing from his old stand to the new location. Mr. Wilde plans to use not only the Broadway store, but also the three smaller stores on O'Neil street, for his growing business.

For years Mr. Wilde has handled the Goodyear tires; the Kelvins, Easy Washers, Detroit Jewel gas ranges, Philco radios and Norwalk batteries.

The new location will afford him considerable more room for the many standard lines of merchandise that he carries.

Mr. Wilde was removing from the old location to the new today, and while moving was continuing business as usual. The two upper floors of the Olivet building, which are used for living apartments will continue to be used as such.

Lottie Coll Confesses To Slaying Last June

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Lottie Coll, comely widow of Vincent "Babe" Coll, New York gangster who was "chopped down" by machine gun bullets in a drug store telephone booth, pleaded guilty today in the middle of her trial for slaying during an attempted holdup of a Bronx money lender last June.

With two co-defendants, both men, she entered a guilty plea to bring the trial to a sudden halt. She pleaded to manslaughter in the first degree. Silvio Ventre, 33, pleaded to a like charge, and Alfred Guarino, 29, pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

The trio was charged with killing Melvin Schwartz, 31, who was shot in the chest and killed by a shot fired by Guarino, a Bronx leader, who was being held by the police when they were arrested at the scene of the slaying.

The trial was held at the Bronx Criminal Court, Judge Charles F. McGuire presiding.

Business Activity

Continued Improvement
Seen In January Report

Business conditions showed continued improvement in January, as reported by the conference of statisticians in industry of the National Industrial Conference Board.

Production of passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada in January advanced 75 per cent over December and 18 per cent over January, 1933. An additional increase is shown for the first two weeks of February.

Construction Shows Seasonal Decline. Building and engineering construction declined seasonally in January after continuing gains from July to December. The decline was 10.5 per cent compared with December, but January was 125 per cent over a year ago.

Steel production continued to increase in January and the first half of February, with the January level 1.6 per cent over December and $6.7 per cent over January of last year. Electric power production in January declined slightly from December counter to seasonal movement, but an increase was registered the first half of February.

Rail Shipments Exceeded December's. Rail shipments of all classes of commodities were 6 per cent greater than December, and total carloadings were 144.4 per cent above the average of a year ago.

Department store sales declined seasonally in dollar value of turnover in January as against December. A decline of 47 per cent in sales resulted in a dollar turnover per day of trading, which was 14 per cent above the level of a year ago. Prices of department store items fell 0.2 per cent in January but were roughly 20 per cent greater than a year ago.

Fire Destroys Garage
At Woodstock Sunday

Woodstock, Feb. 26.—About 1 a. m. Sunday morning the Woodstock Fire Co. was called to a fire at the rear of the Leale A. Elwyn grocery store at Woodstock, where blaze, when the fire was discovered, had made rapid headway in consuming a garage with residence above, an adjoining shed used for the storage, it is said, of combustibles, and three automobiles in the garage.

The fire was said to have started from an over-heated stove in the quarters above the garage. The tenant was reported away at the time. The automobiles, a fairly new delivery truck and two passenger vehicles, were completely destroyed. Fire loss was not immediately determined.

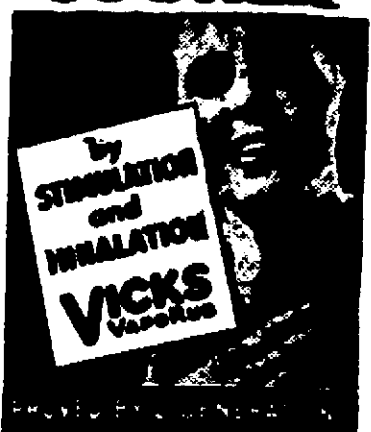

Much fear was felt for an hour or two for the large store containing general merchandise. Efforts to draw water from a nearby stream to fight the garage fire were in vain. The pumper owned by the Woodstock Fire Co. was forced to draw water from the Sawkill near Sully's Mill and with this supply efforts were extended to save the store, not more than 50 feet away from the garage. It is said many supplies were carried from the store.

The garage fire marks the second fire loss Mr. Elwyn has suffered since he has been in business. Several years ago his store and stock were completely destroyed; there was no insurance.

NO LOOSE ENDS

does not spill out*

Every Lucky Strike is made from the finest tobacco and only the center leaves. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed—not ripe. They would give a harsh smoke. Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. They grow close to the ground, and are tough, coarse and always sandy. The center leaves are the mildest leaves, for which farmers are paid higher prices. Only these center leaves are used in making Luckies the fully packed cigarette—so round, so firm—free from loose ends. That's why Luckies draw easily, burn evenly. And remember—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.

White House Taboos In Discard As First Lady Ends First Year

"Everyone must live his own life in his own way, and not according to anyone else's standards." That's Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt's philosophy, expressed in the way she has discarded many precedents hedging in White House behavior when she appeared in the house gallery, knitting needles busily doing, there was surprise when she drove her own car. Her airplane trips, of which there have been many, have come to be accepted as one of her ordinary modes of travel. "Being afraid never did anyone any good," she says.

HURLEY.
Harley, Feb. 26.—The missionary play, "Lenten Ladies," which was to be given last Tuesday evening in the Fair Street Reformed Church, Kingston, was postponed because of the storm. It will be given Tuesday evening instead.

Aeroplane have been passing over lately and dropping seed for the birds and animals.

On Friday evening the Rondout Valley Sunday School Association met in the Reformed Church. About 200 members of the various Sunday

Schools were present. The address of welcome was given by the pastor, the Rev. C. Chilton. Scripture was read by the Rev. Mr. Van Tol of Stone Ridge. Prayer was led by the Rev. Mr. Howard of High Falls. A solo was rendered by Mrs. R. Loughran and a duet by Mrs. C. Chilton and Mrs. Loughran. The Rev. Mr. Scholten of Accord gave the junior talk which was greatly appreciated. The Rev. Mr. Harrison of the Methodist Church in Stone Ridge gave the address of the evening, using as his topic "Go a Little Farther." His fine address will long be remembered by those present. The honor banner was awarded to the Hurley Sunday School. At the close of the meeting ice cream and cake were served by the Sunday School.

Miss Sarah DuMont is confined to her home with illness. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery. Mrs. A. von Schleider of Hackensack is visiting at the Newkirk home.

Communion will be held next Sunday, March 4. Preparatory service will be held on Thursday evening.

"DIVING TAKES HEALTHY NERVES—AND SO DOES MY OFFICE JOB."

Miss Elizabeth Harben, Secretary,
Garden City, L. I., says:

"I know that deep-sea diving calls for healthy nerves. But, believe me, you can also feel plenty of real nerve strain being a secretary to a busy office executive! Telephones, callers, dictation, and a million other demands all take their toll. As to smoking—I smoke a great deal, but I'm careful in the choice of my cigarettes. I prefer Camels. They don't make my nerves jumpy, and I like their flavor better."

Frank Criley, Champion
"Deep-Sea Diver," says:

"Deep down under 300 feet of water, working feverishly under terrific pressure—no place for a nervous man! A diver's nerves must always be in perfect condition. I smoke Camels and have smoked them for years. They are a milder cigarette and they taste better. They never upset my nervous system."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Do your responsibilities give you that "dragged through a knot hole" feeling? Do you come home tired, irritable, with nerves all askew?

Whatever your job or place in life, healthy nerves are worth any effort. Check up on your habits—your eating, your sleeping, your recreation—and do not overlook the subject of smoking. Turn to Camels, for the sake of your nerves.

Any impartial leaf-tobacco expert will tell you that—

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE

Camel pays millions more—for your enjoyment. And how much better Camels taste—mild, rich in flavor, delightful. They never get on your nerves...never tire your taste.

Hailing the Halo of Flowers

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild

These fabric flower halo bands combine gay or pastel floral colorings. They fasten at the back of the head with an elastic loop and tiny button.

The upper one allies crimson and pink flat velvet posies with green leaves while the lower one is more delicate with mauve and pale pink and beige heliotropes for effect. The flowers are massed thickly at front and get narrower at back.

A new treatment of the halo band is this type made of fabric bands braided. At back an elastic loop fastens with a rhinestone ornament.

A bracelet and barrel clip to match is formed of curved gilt and composition bands.

Give the Portrait Gown Its Proper Frame

New York checks, always acceptable, seem to be particularly appreciated at the moment. Any window or interior display of advance spring fashions is bound to contain a costume, or maybe more, in which some version of the check or plaid theme is employed.

The ensemble sketched seems a very happy use of a plain and checked fabric. It is a splendid type of suit to own, no matter what the fabric choice. They do say that there will be plenty of silk suits before long, and that tulle suits, a throw-back if anything ever was, will be worn. In this case consider the advantage of a combination of plain and checked silk as a refreshing change from wool.

There has been enough discussion of the merits of the new to lead us to expect that the shirtwaist dress, so very useful in shifting silks, will be duplicated in very fine shirting flannel, and in challis, one of the newest of the old materials.

In spite of the fact that the famed French opening emphasized softer dress types, it must be remembered that they also gave full recognition to the need of plain clothes, the sports suit deserves it for want of a better name.

Portrait types are all very well in their place, but their place is not in offices or going about the everyday routine. No matter how completely we may give ourselves over to these old master inspirations, we are not at all likely to overlook the swank of trim tailored costumes. It may have feminizing touches, probably will, but it is to be hoped that we are too well grounded in fashions to make lovely portraits into caricatures, and worse still, caricatures walking.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The enthusiasm for lace, as in the general fashion schedule again, is most interesting.

An Easily Made Morning Frock

8121. Not only practical, but comfortable. The yoke is cut with long shoulders, to form sleeve sections on the upper part of the arms. A small shawl collar meets the overlap at the closing. Panel seams end in low placed pleat fullness, and serviceable pockets complete a very pleasing effect.

This frock slips readily over the shoulders, a narrow belt holding the fulness at the waistline. One may use gingham or linen or tub silk for this style, with the collar and overlap in contrasting material.

Designed in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 38 requires 3 1/2 yards of 32 inch material together with 1/2 yard of contrasting material for collar and overlaps.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Naming Australia

The continent of Australia was first given the name of New Holland by the Dutch in 1605. The great Australian explorer, Matthew Flinders, first suggested the name Australia, which means southern land, in 1814, and the term first appeared in official usage in the imperial act of 1828 "to provide for the government of his majesty's settlements in western Australia on the western coast of New Holland." Western Australia is therefore the first Australian state to have the name officially applied to it. The whole continent was not known of as Australia until it became a federation on January 1, 1901.

Seven Wonders of Old World

The seven wonders of the ancient world generally accepted as the seven wonders are: Pyramids of Egypt; Hanging Gardens of Semiramis at Babylon; Temple of Diana at Ephesus; Statue of Zeus by Phidias; Tomb of Mausolus at Halicarnassus; Pharos (lighthouse) at Alexandria; and the Colossus of Rhodes.

ADOPT Lifebuoy as your toilet soap and you make one delightful discovery after another. Your bath leaves you feeling cleaner, fresher—every trace of "B.O." (body odor) gone. And how gloriously your complexion responds to Lifebuoy's gentle, yet thorough cleansing! How soon dullness gives way to healthy radiance!

A winter warning. Stuff, overheated rooms make "B.O." a real danger NOW! Even in cold weather pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste daily. Play safe—always—bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. Its quickly-vanishing, hygienic scent tells you this creamy, searching lather gives active protection.

Old Car Good Enough? Say, just ride in a '34

YOU'LL change your mind about holding on to the old car the very first time you get behind the wheel of a Nineteen Thirty-four. Are these new jobs smooth and smart and comfortable? And can they "travel?"

Even if you aren't going to buy at present, you should read the automobile advertisements appearing in this newspaper. It's an excellent way to keep up to date on what the spring salons are showing. There are important developments in styling and engineering—interesting features pictured and described—which contribute to new riding and driving ease, new safety, beauty, and e-c-o-n-o-m-y.

Economy is an important point in these messages from leading automobile manufacturers. . . . Exceptional values, long life, unusual freedom from repairs, low fuel and oil consumption! Economy is the reason they advertise in this newspaper, for here they can reach you and many other logical and intelligent car buyers at a minimum cost per person.

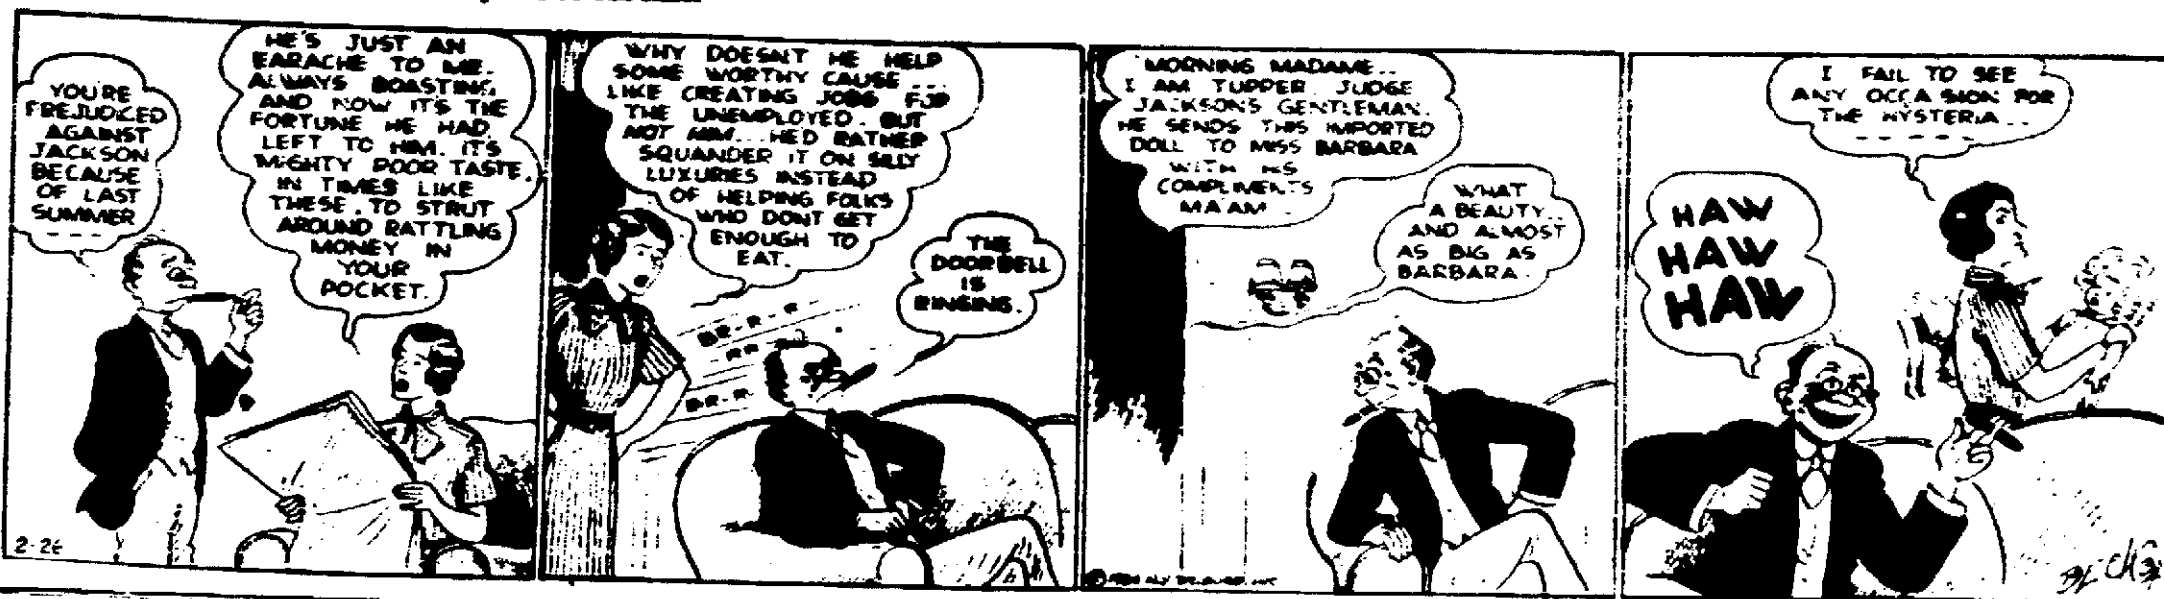

Read the advertisements in this newspaper as an economy measure. They save time, energy, money . . . and even now are pointing out that owning a luxurious, up-to-the-minute motor car is often more economical than maintaining an old one.

Sharp Decrease in Crime in N. Y. State

Department of Correction States There is Evidence That Some Progress is Being Made in War on the Criminal.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (A.P.)—The New York State Department of Correction today pointed to a sharp decrease in crime as evidence that "some progress is being made in our war on the criminal."

For the third successive year the number of major crimes committed in the state has declined, the statistical bureau of the department reported.

The number of major crimes in 1933 decreased 11.5 per cent below the 1932 figure and in 1932 the number was 9.7 below 1931. There were 674 murders reported in 1933, a decrease of 4.4 per cent from 1932. Robbery decreased 21.1 per cent, burglary 9.3 and larceny 19.2.

The Department of Correction calls attention to the great drop in the amount of property stolen as another evidence of the decrease in crime.

In 1931, property valued at $14,195,176 was reported lost or stolen. This amount dropped to $12,641,895 in 1932 and decreased still further to $8,698,404 last year.

"It is obvious," the department said, "that with these reductions in crimes committed and increased police efficiency in solving reported crimes, that some progress is being made in our war on the criminal. This improvement is more significant when one considers that reports

PACKARD'S greatest invention has never been patented

TODAY, Packard looks back on more than a third of a century of progress. It is America's oldest and largest fine car maker.

Packard today has the largest fine car clientele in America—and why its clientele abroad is larger than that of all other American fine car makers combined.

As such, it has doubtless contributed more improvements to the motor car than any other single manufacturer. It is responsible for more than a thousand separate inventions, many of them used today by every motor car maker.

The new 1934 Packards are the greatest Packards ever built. They have obtained nearly one half of the country's fine car business since their announcement. They offer to the motorist everything that could contribute to his comfort and convenience. And they continue to offer that something else which no other motor car can offer—something that distinguishes Packard from all other cars—the famous Packard lines.

But Packard's greatest creation has never been patented. Nor has it ever been shared with any other car. It is the identifying lines which Packard gave to its cars 29 years ago. These lines have distinguished Packards ever since. They have given Packard the most famous motor car identity in all the world. This distinctive personality is one more reason why

Talks to parents

Fathers And Sons
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

"A fine boy, and the image of his father" or "A lovely girl—looks just like her mother."

In spite of the father's desire to see his wife reincarnated in his daughter, the mother's wish to find her husband's image in her son, nature often plays the trick of confusing the sexes, and perpetuating the mother in the boy, the father in the girl.

Humanity never has accustomed itself to this natural fact, and many of the difficulties parents have with their children are due to the divergence of father and son, mother and daughter, in spite of tactful doctors' and nurses' introductory remarks.

The difficulties often are most noticeable in father-and-son relations. A big, blustering father is shocked by the timid, delicate-looking boy he sees growing up, and proceeds by main force to train the boy to be a man like himself. The boy, his timidity increased by his father's seeming roughness, first fears and then hates him as a bully.

For the most part the understanding of children is considered the mother's function, and too often her efforts to explain a child to the father are taken by him as an effort to mollify-coddle.

Later in life many of these storm-tossed boys, brought up by Spartan methods to harden them, end in the offices of psychiatrists. They find themselves unable to work, haunted by fears of their ability or courage, or inadequate in their social relations. Some are cured; others go through life thwarted and embittered men.

Stamina to endure life does not presuppose physical strength or courage and an ability to face facts in the puerile body. Physical courage can be instilled only when the child is shown its necessity to support his convictions.

Clinton M. E. Ten.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 26. (AP)—Midwest pessimism, based apparently on doubts rather than on definite developments, dominated most financial markets today and prices again pointed downward.

Equities dropped from the start, although selling was orderly and the ticker tape was never frenzied by volume. There were a few issues that even moved moderately. Declines ranged from fractions to around a point.

The trading timidity was blamed partly on the belief that federal regulation of stock exchanges is imminent, that the curtailment of CWA spending may affect industry and that business uncertainty might follow inauguration of new Washington investigations. Scattered strike situations also entered into the picture.

Ellenville Now Faces Severe Water Shortage

Ellenville, Feb. 26.—A large number of residents of Ellenville are having the unpleasant experience of being without water in the homes due to frozen pipes and mains, and are obliged to carry water from their nearest neighbor who may have water. Many have had their leads from the main to their home thawed out two and three times, only to have them freeze again. The mains are supplied with water pumped by a battery of pumps from the creek.

Last week a main on Elm street and one on Hillcrest avenue burst. A more serious break occurred on Canal street Friday night when a pipe leading from the main broke open, flooding the cellar of the First National Bank and Trust Co. building with two feet of water and extinguishing the furnace fire. The bank and tenants of the building have since been forced to heat their rooms by improvised means, coal stoves, kerosene stoves, etc., being brought into use. Two blocks of the main business section of the village were flooded with water when the break occurred. The severe cold weather caused the water to freeze almost at once and made the streets very icy and extremely dangerous.

The magazine "Steel" estimated operations in this industry expanded four points during the past week to 47 per cent of capacity, the highest level since last August. The steel level that production is rapidly approaching the 50 per cent rate.

Some selling of the steel was attributed to expectations that a deal of the roads would show a decline in net earnings this month because of recent weather conditions which have sharply raised operating costs.

CAUGHT FOOT IN DOG CHAIN

AGED WOMAN FRACTURED LEG

Sarah E. Le Fevre, 70, of Creek locks suffered a severe injury Sunday morning and is at the Kingston Hospital under the care of Dr. C. B. Van Gansbeek.

Early Sunday morning she went to the barn to do the chores and while there caught her foot in a dog chain and fell to the ground fracturing her leg. Unable to walk the aged woman was able to drag herself some 100 feet to the house where she called Mr. and Mrs. Acker who reside nearby. They called the W. N. Conner ambulance service and the injured woman was brought to the Kingston Hospital for treatment.

SENATE FORCES INCLUDE

SPANISH VETS IN BILL

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—The senate administration forces today further liberalized their compromise proposal on veterans' benefits by broadening it to include Spanish war veterans.

The revised proposal was offered by Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) in charge of the independent office bill for the administration forces, as a counter proposition to a more liberal one by Senators Steiwer (R-Ore.) and McCarran (D-Nev.).

Under certain conditions, the Byrnes proposal would restore to the rolls Spanish war veterans, eliminated by the economy act, with a grant of 75 per cent of their former pensions.

The Steiwer-McCarran proposal would provide a 90 per cent payment.

Austrian Heimwehr Maneuvering Today To All Parts of Country

Government spokesmen say it is a display of force—Wm. Shaw Press Release—Homer Telle of Meeting With Archduke.

By WADE WERNER. (Copyright 1934 by The Associated Press.)

Vienna, Feb. 26 (AP)—Troops of the Fascist Heimwehr were marching to all sections of Austria today to the accompaniment of many rumors, the most sensational of which was that they would meet Archduke Otto, claimant to the Austrian throne, at the Swiss border and escort him triumphantly to Vienna.

This rumor and another to the effect that 40,000 members of the Heimwehr were concentrating along the Austro-German border, brought denials from both the foreign office and Heimwehr headquarters.

A government spokesman said troops were really propaganda marches. The Socialists have been crushed, he explained, and now the Heimwehr is following up its victory by parading its force in all provinces.

He said it was hoped that in this way the Heimwehr may win popular support, especially among elements which previously were sympathetic to the Nazis.

At the same time, from Heimwehr sources, came the private explanation that the Fascist militia were being shifted away from their homes "for psychological reasons." It was said that troops from other provinces would command more respect than troops in which each member was known to the townspeople by his first name.

Chancellor Dollfuss, Vice Chancellor Emil Fey, and Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, leader of the Heimwehr, reviewed a formal parade of 8,000 Fascist troops in Vienna today.

The throng, which watched the parade was silent. There were no cheers. When the bands momentarily ceased their music, the stillness was oppressive.

Dollfuss, wearing a frock coat, reviewed the troops near the palace gates. Beside him stood the Prince in his Heimwehr uniform. Fey, wearing a steel helmet, sat astride a white horse.

After all the troops had passed, the crowd remained staring silently until the dignitaries departed.

Fey was the last man to leave the reviewing place, then mounted police gradually dispersed the crowd.

GLANCING AT SPORTS

By Joe Kelly

Two Big Features
Basketball fans of this town have two outstanding cage features to patronize this week. Tonight's Luckies of Jack Troy oppose the famous House of David at the Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue.

Wednesday Pete Bruck's All Stars represent Stone Ridge, stars against Benny Borgman's Patrons at R. W. S. Hall, H. Falls.

Expectations are that both of the attractions will be well attended. Followers of both local clubs are anxious to see how they compare with the experts of the game.

Have distinguished themselves in the fastest company the sport has to offer.

Slate for the Rowers
Secretaries of two of Kingston's most prominent bowling leagues have reported schedules for the week as follows:

City League
Tonight—Y. M. C. A. vs. Livingstone, American Legion at Emerald, Y. M. C. A. vs. Central Hudson, Y. M. C. A. vs. Uptown, Y. M. C. A. vs. St. Peter's at St. Peter's.

Wednesday (National Divisional)
Universal Electric vs. Central Hudson, 8 o'clock; Faculty II vs. Faculty I, 8 o'clock; The Freeman vs. Kings, 8 o'clock; Trust, 9 o'clock.

Thursday (American Divisional)
Babcock Farms vs. Everett & Tracy, 7 o'clock; Post Office I vs. Post Office II, 7 o'clock; Fullers vs. Wonders, 8 o'clock.

Death on Ducks.
Reports from Ellis, Kane, and others that an oiler road that from the looks like a stream, is dead. Dozens have been found dead on it and hunters say they are second, expecting to alight on it and are killed by the impact.

Quick Thinking.
A man was fishing some strange preserved water in Scotland when he caught a fine salmon. As he did not want to display any evidence of crime, he tied the fish through the gills to a stake on the bank and turned it to the water.

Soon a keeper came along and accused the man of poaching. "O. no," said the angler, disingenuously, "I'm just having a little innocent amusement practicing on the water."

The keeper was reassured and about to walk away when he served the captured salmon plump frantically at the end of its line. "What's this?" he asked.

"O—er—well," replied the angler, "that fellow kept sneaking my bait out of the way."—Vancouver Province.

Melinkovich, Pfefferli Again.
Notre Dame football team will have two members of the 1932 eleven back—George Melinkovich, fullback, and Dick Pfefferli, halfback. Pfefferli with a shoulder injury that necessitated an operation.

Cage Rules Puzzler.
An Associated Press story from Springfield, Mass., says: "Here's one for those basketball officiating clinics to talk over—just let 'em try to duplicate it!"

It was on a two-shot foul in game between Ware and Palm High Schools. On the second try the ball rolled around the rim and came to rest, perfectly balanced, atop the rim and leaning against the backboard.

"What would you do? The referee called time. Knocked the ball down and gave the shooter another chance."

Rosendale Firemen Take Over Woodridge Five By Nine Points

Saturday at Rosendale, the Firemen of that village defeated the highly touted Woodridge cagers, conquerors of Pete Bruck's All Stars, by the margin of nine points, final score of the contest being 34-25 in favor of Manager Delaney's Home Hardware.

The victory was registered without the services of Hank Krum, regular center. Bill Kopp substituted at the pivot post and collected 5 points. Gil Kelder and Jim Merritt turned in the highest scores for Rosendale. Kaplan for the Woodridge quintet.

Reminiscences Of Colorful Career Led By John J. McGraw

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—Old-timers in baseball say of John Joseph McGraw that "he never dodged a fight and never won one."

From the days when he won a name for himself as one of the scrappiest of the famous old Baltimore Orioles—"Muggsy" McGraw—and on through the fiery years of his leadership of the New York Giants, he was the stormy petrel of the sport.

In later times, especially when ill health first beset him, McGraw's temper changed and softened but he never relaxed his aggressive tactics and he never had any patience with a ball-player who would not fight for everything he could get on the field.

McGraw once chased an umpire, Jim Johnston, right out of the old Polo Grounds as the aftermath of a furious argument but the arbiter got in the last word by forfeiting of the game.

Always To Win.
McGraw always played to win, whether it was only a spring exhibition game or a contest which had no bearing on the pennant race. It was his sport news when George Foster, later a star pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, succeeded in beating the Giants one spring down in Texas.

Some 20 years ago, when the Detroit Tigers were paired with the Giants in the spring, Ty Cobb was forced to quit the trip because of a bitter run-in with the Giants. The Georgia Peach spiked Buck Herzog, infielder of the Giants, was threatened with bodily harm by the rest of the club, and was given a public tongue-lashing in the hotel that night by McGraw.

Took the Count Twice.
On at least two occasions in his embattled career McGraw was knocked flat without being able to retaliate. Once, during a series with the Phillies, he was "riding" the opposition hard, especially Ad Brennan, a big pitcher. Between innings, Brennan walked over toward the Giants' bench, caught McGraw a terrific blow from the side and cut the Giant leader's face.

Another time, during spring training play at Houston, Texas, McGraw got into a hot argument with a veteran first baseman, Pat Newman. They parted that day without coming to blows but the story goes that Newman nursed his grudge, waited for McGraw at the entrance to the field the next afternoon and caught the manager a terrific uppercut as he stuck his head through the opening. McGraw took the long count.

Characteristic of McGraw's good heartedness that his gruff exterior usually concealed, he later heard Newman was in poor health, as well as financial straits, and sent his old enemy enough money to go to a resort in Arizona. McGraw never forgot a friend, either, and many were the times when he quietly passed out a fifty dollar bill to some one in distress.

"Cleared" In Real Estate.
McGraw's one big financial upsurge, a venture into real estate at Sarasota, Fla., during the boom years, was a boomerang. From a peak when it was said his paper profits approached a million, McGraw was nearly stripped clean by the collapse of the enterprise. Although originally just a front man in the deal, he was held financially responsible and made sure that numerous friends were repaid for money they had lent McGraw's top salary with the Giants was about $40,000.

Although an absentee at the time, McGraw once traded his interest in the Baltimore American League Club to his old pal, Wilbert Robinson, in exchange for Robbie's share in the ownership of a saloon. That was in 1902, in July of which McGraw left Baltimore to take over the management of the Giants.

The end of McGraw's playing days was hastened by a spoke wound while

Baseball's Little Napoleon

—By Pap

IT WAS after John McGraw became a part-owner and vice-president of the New York Giants in 1913, that his greatest successes in his 30-year managerial career were achieved. In winning four straight National League championships, from 1921 through 1924, he set a record that no other manager has equaled.

Even the loss to the Washington Senators in one of the most dramatic of world series, the one where Walter Johnson "came back" to rescue the final game in 1924 after two losing starts, couldn't dim the luster of the great Giants of the early 20's. Evidence of the great good-nature that was McGraw's, despite the vast library of incidents showing his aggressiveness and fighting spirit, is found in the treatment he accorded many of his old-time players and friends, and in his sponsorship of a "town at the Polo Grounds, was a team made of McGraw in Mac's second year in baseball, with Cedar Rapids, Ia., in the Iowa-Illinois league.

Six weeks after ill health had forced him to turn over the Giants' management to younger men, McGraw hadn't seen a single game and said he "felt 15 years old." However, after a couple months away from the game he did come back, as a "fan."
